April 21st, 2016, Melbourne, Australia.

Australian nasal and respiratory technology company Rhinomed Ltd (ASX:RNO), is pleased to announce that it is continuing to expand its distribution footprint in the USA.

Performance Bike – the No.1 specialty bike retailer in the USA will begin ranging the Turbine sports breathing technology across its 127 store chain and online at www.performancebike.com.

Rhinomed has also signed with Inboxfitness.com of Newark, Delaware, USA to bring the Turbine and Mute breathing technology to their online health and fitness store.

Inbox Fitness is one of America's fastest growing online retailers of active lifestyle products, and features over 300 of the industry's leading brands. Turbine will be added to Inbox Fitness's line up of health and fitness products, exercise equipment nutritional supplements, sports drinks and accessories and will be marketed and distributed directly to customers. Inbox Fitness has over 100,000 customers and is growing this customer base rapidly.

The CEO of Inbox Fitness, Vincent Scalisi, said, "Turbine's completely novel approach to improving athletic performance, and its ability to produce remarkable results for our customers, make the brand a perfect fit for us. Consumers in this market have very high expectations — and Turbine delivers."

The Turbine is an internal nasal stent technology that relieves nasal congestion and delivers an instant feeling of increased airflow. The Turbine has been used to assist breathing during training, performance and recovery. Used by elite athletes across the globe, Turbine is drug free and created from ultra soft medical grade polymers.

Rhinomed CEO Michael Johnson said, "We are focused on rapidly expanding our distribution footprint for both Turbine and Mute in the North American market. Its is pleasing that both Mute and Turbine have the support of such high quality and experienced retailers."
